Healthy Hartford Campaign Invites You To Movie Night News and Community Advisory

The City of Hartford Health and Human Services Department has been actively pursuing ways to involve Hartford residents in its Healthy Hartford Wellness Campaign. The goal of this campaign is to increase the availability of health related information designed to influence the choices Hartford families make in their daily lives. The themes of particular priority in this campaign have included physical activity, disease prevention and management resources.

This time the department will team up with the Office of Cultural Affairs Film Series to present an opportunity for Hartford residents to put on their thinking hats, exercise their brain power and participate in a discussion about the connections between your health and your bank account. The film will be shown on Wednesday September 22, 2010 at 7:00 PM at the Pump House Gallery (60 Elm Street, Bushnell Park) and is part of the Unnatural Causes series, an acclaimed documentary series broadcast by PBS and now used by thousands of organizations across the country to tackle the root causes of our alarming socio-economic and racial inequities in health.

The “In Sickness and in Wealth” episode will explore the theme of how the distribution of power, wealth and resources shape opportunities for health. After the film participants will have an opportunity to express their opinions utilizing an electronic response device that will poll their opinions in an anonymous fashion.

“We welcome the input from Hartford residents. We need to hear what residents have to say to best address their needs and to provide services that benefit them,” stated Carlos Rivera, Director.
